COUNSELLING SERVICE AT SCHOOL

Things you should know

The School provides counselling services for its students as part of its pastoral care program. These are provided through counsellors employed by the School.

Students are encouraged to make use of these services if they need assistance. There are, however, a number of things that students and their parents should know before using the counselling service.

1. Records will be made of counselling sessions and because the counsellor is an employee, those records belong to the School, not the counsellor.

2. The School is very conscious of the need for confidentiality between counsellor and student. However at times it may be necessary for the Counsellor to divulge the contents of discussions or records to the Principal or senior staff member (Assistant Principal Primary, Assistant Principal Secondary and Heads of Stages) if the Principal or the Counsellor considers it necessary for the students’ welfare to discharge the School's duty of care to the student. (See “Consent & Rights to Access”)

3. It is also possible that the Principal may need to disclose aspects of discussions with counsellors to others in order to assist the student.

4. Where a disclosure is made it would be limited to those who need to know, unless the students consent to some wider disclosure.

5. Disclosure will occur when it is legally required.

We emphasise that disclosures (if any) would be very limited. However, if a student is not prepared to use the counselling services on the basis set out above the student will need to obtain counselling services from outside the School.
